Summary of Legislation: This bill requires the Education Roundtable to study financial and career incentives for teachers and report to the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Legislative Council, and the State Board of Education.

Effective Date: Upon passage.

Explanation of State Expenditures: (Revised) The Education Roundtable would be required to study financial and career incentives for teachers, including:

1. Professional development and licensing requirements; and
2. Career incentives to teach in:
  - a. Critical incentive areas; or
  - b. Low performing schools.

In conducting this study, the Roundtable is to consider alternatives to existing policies, the cost of existing and alternative policies, and incentives that have the most effect on student achievement. The Roundtable is to submit a report on this study by November 1, 2005 to the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Legislative Council and the Board of Education.

This will impact the administrative expenses of the Roundtable. For FY 2004, $2.9 M was transferred from the State Board of Education to the Higher Education Commission to fund the Roundtable.
